Dear Randy:

When my house burned down shortly before Thanksgiving, I did not know what to do. I was approached by Paul Hanlin of your office who seemed to suggest that if I hired your company you would take care of everything. Frankly, I was a bit skeptical but considering everything I had going on and with the holidays approaching I felt I would be best served by letting a professional handle my claim. I had already met with Farmers and although they were friendly, I was less than impressed.

What can I say? Thank you so much for everything. Your services were truly worth every dime and I got much more than the band-aid that Farmers wanted to put on my house. Your team did everything they said they would do and more. I would not hesitate to use Adjusters International again or refer you guys to anyone else who has a claim.

Amazing results!

Best wishes,
